QUALITY IS THE FIRST CONSIDERATION IN BUYING A WATCH.

When a man gets a watch he wants a good one, and one that will last a lifetime and always be the dot. The complexity of modern civilization makes it often a matter of money and sometimes of life and death, that people should be on time.

REGINA WATCHES

Are designed to meet the demand for accurate and durable time pieces—and they do. No detail of their construction has been left open to criticism—in fact they are made a little better than seems necessary. But merit will win in the long run, and Regina Watches, being universally guaranteed, will stand the test of time. Come in and let us tell you more about them.

ARTHUR POWNE ANSWERS JAMES BOWER

A Most Effective Letter by a Leading Cattle Man

Erskine, Alta., Sept. 4th, 1911.
It is encouraging that Mr. Bower apprehends something plausible if not reasonable in my letter. I will endeavor to answer Mr. Bower's statements, through the advice I trust I shall be able to give to the farmers in particular. Mr. Bower is a gentleman who has been drawn by politics. I still stand for wider markets, but not with nations who exported $1,000,000,000 of farm produce in the last year, viz.: The United States, Argentina, Australia, Austria-Hungary, British India, Denmark, Japan, New Zealand, Russia, Sweden, France, Spain, Bolivia, Columbia, and Venezuela, as well as British possessions not named, who come in under the reciprocity agreement. Possibly my experience is greater in the West than our friend Mr. Bower's, having had the privilege to live twenty-three years in Manitoba and Alberta with the exception of four years in Oregon, and as to my misstatements as to markets, I will leave it to the farmers to judge. In the year 1895 I sold No. 1 hard wheat for 35c, oats at 8c, eggs at 5c, butter at 42c, cattle at 2c, and I believe hogs at 31c. Potatoes, which I had 500 bushels, no sale. In 1906 I sold No. 1 flax for 48c, and I thought I was rich when I received 50c for No. 1 hard in the same year, therefore I consider my estimate very conservative. As to Mr. Bower's assertion that I said the Central Alberta Stock Growers' Association was the sole means of the present high prices, I will refer him back to my letter again, still the agitation had considerable effect. Again Mr. Bower accuses me of stating that I could make more money buying cattle at the Canadian dealers' prices and selling to the American dealer than I could possibly make in raising the cattle myself.

Free Press, Feb. 27th, 1907.—A Shipper's experience—Mr. A. J. Powne, in default of Gordon, Ironsides & Pares, Winnipeg, and P. Burns & Co. and The Dominion Meat Co., Calgary, seeking representatives to speak on the home markets, though they had representatives in the meeting, gave some experience in shipping, and they had had better net prices by taking his cattle to Winnipeg than by selling them at home. He had made more money in shipping than he had in raising. The grower was not fairly dealt with in comparison with the shipment there. Morning Herald, March 1, 1907, Calgary—Central Alberta Stockmen Meet at Red Deer, Feb. 28th, 1907.—It Pays to Ship Cattle.—Mr. Powne, Stettler, read a paper, and laid closer relations between the farmer and the stockkeeper. Although lumber and other commodities had gone up the price of steers remained the same or a little less. He said he had made more money by shipping cattle than he had ever made out of ranching. If it would bring a profit of $15.00 to ship from here to Winnipeg, what must the profit be from Winnipeg to England.

As to our Chicago shipments, it is a well known fact that the first shipment of cattle from Red Deer on Sept. 17th, 1907, made us a profit of $300.00 at these prices:

17 steers at 6.10; 21 steers at 5.50; 122 steers at 5.30; 64 steers at 4.00. Cows from $4.00 to $6.00 per head.

The second shipment later in the fall lost us $250.00, and if Mr. Bower does not believe me, he can ask Mr. Forrester or Mr. Geisinger, so our experience in shipping to Chicago was a long way from a profitable investment.

For the benefit of the farmer I will continue by proving that the statement in the Calgary Albertan of Aug. 31st, regarding the price of cattle, is another misrepresentation to the public.

Clay Robinson & Co's. Live Stock Report, Aug. 25th, 1911:

Steers, this week, range 4.40 to 5.17; bulk, 5.10 to 6.15.

Cows and Heifers, this week, bulk, 4.25 to 5.35.

A 1200 lb. steer to the Montana rancher at average price of $5.63 brings $67.50. According to my shipping experience it would cost the Montana rancher about $14.00 per head for freight, feeding and transportation on the road, commission fees and yardage in Chicago, leaving the rancher $53.50 net for his steer, and I think I am a little low in the estimate. An Alberta steer of 1300 lbs. at the point of shipment, at 41c, gives the rancher $53.25, leaving $1.75 to the advantage of the Albertan steer, by former shipments to Chicago from here by myself a steer loses 100 lbs. on an average even after feeding and watering in Chicago.

Again I am taking October prices for Alberta steers, as all the ranchers have sold for that figure on this side of the Red Deer river and in all probability Chicago range cattle will drop in price as the season advances, and I might inform Mr.

Bower that the farmers' cattle around Red Deer, by my experience in buying them in former years, would be worth around one to one and a half cents less on the Chicago market than the range steer in our part of the country. I do not look for any depreciation in Canadian cattle through reciprocity with the United States in cattle, but I do object to Australia being able to land cheap mutton in Vancouver, and the Argentine, one of the greatest beef producing countries in the world, with cheap labor, coming into competition with the Alberta meat raiser through the reciprocity agreement. As far as Mr. Bower stating that the buyers held them up last summer, we, in this part of the country, never had the number of buyers on the market as we had last year, and the cattle were sold for 41c and 41c live weight. The only way I can account for the difference is our superior range cattle.

Again Mr. Bower says the farmers' associations are still moving for the benefit of the farmer. I have said again he is allowing party to influence him, as R. L. Borden has promised the farmers the chilled meat system and also the Hudson Bay railroad. It seems incredible that Mr. Bower, President of the Farmers' Association, after receiving, at the hands of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, a crust instead of the loaf for which he asked, should still support the Liberal Government.

Then Mr. Bower goes on to explain my appeal to the business men of the towns that reciprocity would injure their trade is contrary to all facts and reason, because all must agree that only in the farmers' prosperity can others prosper, except in the case of these protected industries. Mr. Bower must be very short-sighted if he cannot see that the prosperity of the farmers depends also on the prosperity of the nation, and for a nation to be prosperous we must encourage our industries, protect our natural resources, and manufacture our raw material in Canada, not in the United States; the most valued market to the farmer is his home market, and the farmer is asked to expose his 80 per cent. home market to the competition of the United States and twelve other favored nations, as well as to the great food exporting colonies. What for? For the uncertainty of the American market for the remaining twenty per cent; and our home market is increased by our consuming population as compared with our producing population. Even the opening up of the West, the enormous expansion of our railroad building, in mining and lumber camps, in the growth of our cities, has but the use of the goods of all farm products, and by following along the lines we are taking no uncertainties to cripple the most prosperous nation in the world today, and only yet in its infancy. Give Canada protection until we bloom out into a strong and powerful nation. Canada possesses today a world's opportunity never before equalled in history; better "protected industries" than fall into the hands of the American trusts, letting them get the control of our natural resources, stamping out competition and creating monopolies unequalled in the world.

I am proud to say I am not like Mr. Bower. I would willingly take less for my wheat to build up an Empire within an Empire. In a very few years our cities and towns would be built up with our own great industries, giving employment to thousands of hands, giving opportunities for the raising of new to our children and children's children. But as to Mr. Bower saying a third of our export wheat went through American channels, we would like to have the statistics, also that our present conditions are resulting in building up a great Minneapolis—it is not so. Minneapolis mills bought from Canada 800,000 bushels of No. 1 hard wheat at a raise of from five to ten cents per bushel above export value. But even then our farmers along the boundary could have supplied them with five million bushels, as there was that amount grown within hauling distance. I happen to have two brothers in the Winnipeg area, one of six thousand bushels per annum in Manitoba close on the boundary. At times they have been able to sell at a higher price than the rest of the No. 1 wheat, still the bulk of their wheat goes to Winnipeg. I do not think they are very likely to ship to Winnipeg if they could get what the Liberal papers say—ten to fifteen cents a bushel more on the American side. Why do not your reciprocity people quote the other American markets, compare Winnipeg with Chicago or New York, not with Minneapolis, who only buys from Canada a limited supply of No. 1 hard wheat, because it is compulsory for them to do so to keep their mills running. Today's prices, Aug. 31st, 1911: Winnipeg $4.01, Chicago .89, Minneapolis $1.00, Duluth $1.33, New York 95¢. These figures are proof enough that we cannot take Minneapolis prices.

Minneapolis' year's flour estimate is 17,000,000 barrels, so let us farmers build up a Minneapolis in Canada, and feed the by-products from that wheat to our cattle, sheep and hogs; in that way we will keep up the vitality of our soil. The wheat question in Central Alberta is not worth mentioning, very seldom do we have any wheat equal in quality for the Minneapolis market; we would have to take Chicago and New York prices, which are invariably less than Winnipeg.

Farmers—When you see Mr. Bower, ask him these questions:

Why vote for reciprocity to bring in competition against you of the American markets and the favored nations, exporting farm products to the value of $1,000,000,000?

Why ruin your sheep market by letting in Australia, which grows sheep for the wool and looks upon the carcass as a by-product? Australia will be able to ship mutton into Vancouver while the duty on wool remains the same.

Why have the Argentine flooding your markets with beef? The Argentine is one of the cheapest labor countries in the world.

When the Canadian Hard Wheat contains a much larger percentage of gluten, more phosphate, more health-giving qualities and strength-sustaining qualities than any other wheat on earth, why lose the identity of it by reciprocity?

Why lower your price in eggs, butter and cheese by removing the duty on your products, and at the same time compelling you to buy your machinery and clothes with a protection against them?

Why spend $170,000.00 for the Grand Trunk Pacific built to carry our grain and then turn the trade north and south?

Why vote for a government that is asking you to compete with the world on your products, and at the same time compelling you to buy your machinery and clothes with a protection against them?

I know the farmers have difficulties to contend with, but stay clear of the American trusts; Laurier has failed to help you, therefore try R. L. Borden. Even the rankest Liberal will vouch for his honesty and straightforwardness.

Last year the United States shipped 7,680 tons of hay into Canada and paid a duty of $15,360. Why lose that $15,360 by reciprocity?

Last year the United States shipped into Canada 225,000 bushels of potatoes and paid a duty of $43,000. Why, farmers, lose that $43,000 of fresh vegetables Canada bought from the United States for $25,000, and the duty collected was $35,000. Vote against reciprocity and save this money for yourselves.

Again Canada bought 50,073 bushels of apples and paid a duty of $24,000. Keep this $24,000 by voting down reciprocity.

Vote for R. L. Borden and receive back our just rights by gaining control of our natural resources; we only have it secondhand from Laurier; another political plot to obtain votes.

Even Laurier's followers keep very quiet about the Hudson Bay railroad; I guess they are ashamed to promise the building of it, they have been fooled too often.

R. L. Borden advocates the control and operation of terminal elevators by the state. This is the way, Mr. Farmer, to destroy the grain and elevator combines our friend Mr. Bower talks about.

Even the President of the Liberal association, Red Deer, blossoms forth with a long address at the Borden meeting, giving Mr. Borden an unstained career in politics; therefore vote for the clean man and down with corruption and promises never fulfilled.

WOULD ASSIST UNITED STATES

Why American Editors Welcome Reciprocity—Some of Them See Annexation in It

Here is what the editors of some American publications have to say about the proposed reciprocity agreement:

Annexation Anyway
The New York Tribune has remarked that if reciprocity cannot be brought about before annexation, annexation may be brought about before reciprocity.

Benefit to the States
The Boston Herald, speaking of Canada, said: "As her forest lands are cleared, her prairies brought under the plow and her mines opened, she will need machinery, and quantities of it. The benefit to United States manufacturers is obvious."

Take the Canadian Market
The Hardware Association of the New England States has endorsed the reciprocity project. Members declare that it will be beneficial to them chiefly in the sale of cutlery, and that it will be enlarged ultimately so as to give the entire trade advantages in the Canadian market.

One More State
Speaking of the effect of the Knox-Fielding pact, The Oriental Review, which is published in New York, says: "This great Republic has morally added to its union one more state. Without fighting for it, and without any future need of 'knocking it' into proper shape!"

Would Knock Imperialism
The St. Paul Dispatch supports J. J. Hill's view. "If the Canadian reciprocity agreement," it says, "is ratified on both sides the Imperial Federation idea will be sadly discouraged and the granting of the preference in favor of the products of the dependencies would be impossible, as such a scheme would amount to nothing with Canada eliminated."

Afraid of Imperialism
Mr. J. J. Hill said: "I know of my own knowledge that England has been mothering this Imperial Federation plan for some time with an eagle eye for its speedy adoption in Canada. Why is the uncle of the King, the Duke of Cornwall, coming to Canada as Governor-General next spring? Why are English customs and ideas more strongly urged upon the people? Solely for the purpose of leading up to the adoption of Imperial Federation. And mark my words, if the United States turns down the reciprocity treaty with Canada, it (Canada) will fly to the embrace of Imperial Federation with outstretched arms."

Mr. W. K. George
"I am quite willing to admit as true all the promises of prosperity made to them in the favor of reciprocity, and yet I am as bitterly opposed to it as ever, because of the effect it will have on the Canadian national spirit. This spirit is more than materialism. The East and West in Canada are geographically separate and distinct, and it is necessary to keep them welded together by the bonds of trade. On the other hand, in the United States, State merged gradually into State, and it is hard to tell where the East ended and the West began. Should the proposed agreement go into effect, I am confident that the dream of the late Professor Goldwin Smith, namely, the annexation of Canada to the United States, will be realized."

THE FIRST STEP TOWARDS UNION

All Trade Barriers Separating the Two Countries Should Be Removed, Says Iowa Member

Hon. James W. Good, of Iowa, speaking in Congress, said: "To bring into closer relation these two great English-speaking races on the American continent is a most laudable ambition. For more than a century it has been the dream of the statesmen of this country and of Canada that no more imaginary line should permanently separate the people of these two countries. These peoples live under the same sun, breathe the same air, and are separated only by a few miles of water."

O. S. CROCKETT
The plucky fighter in York, N.B.

conditions that are in all respects similar, are engaged in the same common pursuits, have a common ancestry, use a common language, have a common religion, and must have a common destiny."

"It is unquestionably true that the first step in the direction of a closer bond between this country and Canada must come through trade and commercial concessions. All needless trade barriers tending to keep separate the people of these two countries should be removed."

Through American Ports
Mr. Curley, of Massachusetts, in Congress said: "I believe also that there is a great and important side of this question that has not as yet been considered in the debate upon this tremendously vital economic issue, and that is the opportunity that lies for moving a new and vastly important commerce of another land through the ports of the United States."

"And I beg, in connection with this proposed gain in American commerce, that you will note how almost entirely dependent Canada is upon her eastern and western terminals for the movement of her raw materials, and the taking advantage of the wonderful natural resources of the Dominion."

As Far as the Pole
Hon. Samuel W. McCall, of Massachusetts, quoted from a speech of Governor Gurnea, made to the Boston Merchants' Association on December 10th, 1902. "Suppose we could to-night sail from our ocean to ocean and from her southern line to the North Pole, to the territory of the United States, so that when some courageous American explorer plants the banner of the Republic upon the pole, we would find that our beautiful folds fill with the air of the North, it will proclaim the eternal sovereignty of the United States, and the taking advantage of the wonderful natural resources of the Dominion."

F. D. MONK
Conservative candidate in Jacques Cartier.

look upon this accession of power and population upon land and lake and sea, as a misfortune to our country or a blow inflicted upon her prosperity? If so, further and eliminate national pride. How many banks would fail on that account? How many factories would close because the States and Stripes were flying over this vast domain? What area would be worth less? What man would be without work or receive less compensation?"

Why Remove the Tariff?
Hon. William B. Wilson, of Pennsylvania, speaking in Congress, said: "Canada has a tariff on farm products almost equal to our own, and yet the American farmer has produced his crops under American conditions, shipped them into Canada, paying the Canadian duty, and has sold there nearly three times as much farm produce during the past five years as Canada has sold to the United States."

TRADE TREATY IS A DANGER

Uncle Sam's Motto is Still the Same, "All for Uncle Sam"—Keep Canada for Canadians

Here are the warnings of several prominent Canadians against the Reciprocity Agreement:

Hon. A. B. Morine
"Uncle Sam's motto is still the same, 'All for Uncle Sam.' The farmers are in a most prosperous condition in Ontario, and it is almost impossible to arrange a loan on Ontario farm property, for the farmers do not need it."

Sir William Van Horne
"To my amazement and distress and shame I now see the magnificent work of a generation trampled away for a vague idea or a childish sentiment—the splendid commercial and industrial position we have reached and our proud independence bartered for a few worry plums."

Mr. W. A. Shepard, Borden, Sask.
"Although the farmers might get a slightly better price for their wheat they would lose in the end, because, if we send our grain to the mills of Minneapolis and St. Paul, it emphatically means they can reship at their own price and farmers will be unable to get feed for their horses."

Mr. L. E. Flick, Georgetown
"I heartily sympathize with the small book paper mills. There are a lot of these mills making a low grade of paper such as would be effected by the tariff revisions and they would all have to go out of business or get into the better grades. It would be a hard blow to them."

Mr. John Middleton, Sr., Clinton
"My belief is that Canadian materials should be turned into manufactured products in our own country, thus giving employment to our own men, building up our cities and towns, and making a greater Canada. To do justice to this country this question should be decided by the people."

Mr. J. Stough, Welland
"I want to see this country alive and growing. We can sell all our produce in England if we want to get more for it than we do here. I can remember when Welland was a muddy little hole. That was in the time of free trade."

Mayor Geary
"To my mind the adoption of the agreement for reciprocity can have but one result, and that is the drawing closer together of these two countries and consequent separation in trade and ultimately in sentiment between the mother land and ourselves. This is a result which every true Canadian-British subject would greatly deplore. How many of our citizens in every possible way against allowing American sentiment to creep into Canada to the detriment of our affection and loyalty to the old land."

Mr. D. C. Cameron, Winnipeg
"Through I might be personally benefited through my timber lands by the tariff agreement, as a Canadian I am opposed to it. I think Winnipeg would eventually lose by free trade, because it would divert traffic to the south. The change would be gradual, and that city would not perhaps feel its effect for two or three years."

Mr. F. G. Stewart, Grantham
"I have been all through Michigan, and have found that the growers there can produce grapes more easily than here. They also have fine natural facilities for growing peaches, pears, plums and apples. The northwestern market which we have striven for was hard to get, and now with reciprocity it would be ruined."

Mr. H. L. Frost, Hamilton
"Reciprocity may be helpful to some and detrimental to others, but to Canada as a whole it does not seem to me desirable. Besides being larger United States industries have such a decided freight advantage that Canada cannot compete in either market. As a former United States manufacturer now located in Canada I strongly oppose reciprocity."

Judge Doherty
"The secret of the reciprocity agreement is that the Republican party of the United States is endangered and is endeavoring to rush the agreement through because they are afraid of the crack of Tat's whip. With the thousands and thousands of Americans pouring into Canada, good citizens though they are, they naturally lose the land of their birth, and reciprocal trade relations would soon end in political union."

DR. CLARK HAS NEGLECTED HIS DUTY.

Dr. Michael Clark has received a lot of censure for his glaring neglect of this constituency during the time he has represented it. Oratory is all right in its way, but it will not build postoffices, armories, rifle ranges, public buildings, etc., especially the free trade, Cobden club style of oratory for which he is noted. The censure is well merited. He has sat in the House of Commons and seen Nova Scotia and New Brunswick surfed with millions of dollars' worth of public works to which they were not entitled, while his own constituency received not a dollar. Lacomb, Innisfail, Olds and Red Deer should all have received public buildings if he had done his duty.

Some prudish people contend we are not entitled to such things, and that they are a species of graft. We have no sympathy with such contention. Every man, woman and child pays his or her share into the public treasury. One cannot exist without contributing towards the upkeep of the country. Everything one wears or eats is taxed, and everybody pays his share. We are therefore entitled to our part as a great pioneer town. Dr. Clark has been glaringly remiss in this respect, and is not entitled to the votes of the electors.

We have time and again drawn attention to the fact that an armory was badly needed at Red Deer, and the town was so anxious to assist that they offered lots for this purpose. But, bless your heart, the corrupt government at Ottawa would rather buy the lots at ten times their value, because then some grafter would be paid for services rendered. So important has become the needs of a place to drill in for our splendid Light Horse and military organizations that many times the officers have become discouraged and threatened to resign, and no heart is taken in the organization. Then a rifle range is badly needed and has been asked for over and over again. There is a rifle association here and rifles, but the government has neglected to give us a range and the rifles will be returned and the association disbanded. An immigration shed was promised Red Deer years ago and land purchased for the purpose. Nothing was done in the matter, and when a poor stranger comes into town late at night with out visible means of support he has to be run into the coop as there is no other place for him. Immigrants are coming to the town almost daily and applying to the Commissioners for a place to rest in, but they have to move on and sidestep Red Deer, as the government has neglected to provide accommodation here for them. Strathcona's member has been in the house less than two years yet he gets a $30,000 armory for Strathcona and a $2,000 pest office for Wetaskiwin; and there is not a town of Red Deer's size and importance in the west that has not received its share of public buildings except our town. There is a lot in what the Lacomb Globe says, that Dr. Clark fully expected a redistribution of seats, when Red Deer would be placed in the north riding, and he would have nothing more to do with the town, and would have a safe seat in the south.

GRIT PAPERS SAY PRICE OF HORSES ARE TOO HIGH.

This is the way one Liberal paper, the Strathcona Plaindealer, talks to farmers who are raising horses. This paper acknowledges the price of horses will drop like a thunderbolt. Every farmer raising or owning horses will lose fifty dollars per head. The paper makes the pact comes in force. Grit papers ask farmers to vote for reciprocity and better prices, but when you show them that prices will drop, they laugh in your face and tell you prices are too high and they ought to take a tumble. Here is what the paper says: "Mr. Michener laments the drop in the prices of horses which he fears would follow the enactment of reciprocity. For mercy sake, would he not sanction a project that would deliver this country from the famine prices which now prevail for horses? The whole business of the west, both rural and city, is crippled by reason of the scarcity of horses and the high prices. Alberta stockmen cannot or will not raise the number of horses that are required to keep pace with the development of this country. One of the best local arguments we know for reciprocity is to enable the free entry of horses and mules into this country to assist in its development."

MR. POWNE'S STATEMENT.

James Bower said he did not believe Arthur Powne's statement that farmers' expenditures have only increased 14 per cent. while the goods he sells have increased 35 per cent., but it is true nevertheless. The Dominion government reports show that in 1909 prices received by the farmer had risen over those of the ten years before 1.99, like this: Grain and fodder, including 13 selected standard commodities, 49.9 per cent. Cattle and cattle products, hogs and hog products, sheep and sheep products, fowl and turkeys, 43.6 per cent. Dairy products, 33 per cent. And that the price of goods the farmer has to buy has not risen to an equal extent, as this list shows: Woolen goods, 33.3 per cent. Cotton goods, 25 per cent. Boots and shoes, 25 per cent. Metal and implements, 2.4 per cent. Imported goods—decrease, 4 per cent. The staple lines which represent over 90 per cent. of the farmer's expenditure have only increased 13.3 per cent., while the goods he sells have increased 35.7 per cent. Agriculture is the basic industry of Canada. If its prosperity grows in greater ratio than that of other industries, it is in the doubly happy position of flourishing itself and enabling others to flourish. This has happened with a home market that is nothing like as big as it will be. Canada has only really begun her manufacturing career, if she is permitted to retain her fiscal independence.

CO-OPERATION IN PUBLICITY.

Members of the Board of Trade will be interested in learning that the advantages of co-operation in publicity have been recognised and that a Development League, formed along the same lines as the Central Alberta Development League, has been formed in Washington.

The Washington Development League, with headquarters in Seattle, will advertise the advantages of the state in general, and will forward to each individual Board of Trade the names of all inquiries which result from such advertising.

In addition they will send out literature dealing in a broad way with Washington's opportunities and resources. "Thus is eliminated the first cost of placing individual communities in touch with prospective settlers, a cost which, under the most economically planned system of advertising, is always a costly one, and the local commercial organization is left free to devote all its means and energies to what is generally called a 'follow-up work.'"

The league expects to spend not less than $85,000 in advertising each year. One of the results of persistent civic advertising is seen in the case of Brandon, Man.

A recent issue of their debentures amounting to $119,200, was oversubscribed by four o'clock, the amount of subscriptions running to $117,821. The premium received by Brandon on these debentures is largely direct return in cold cash, for the enterprise and energy of their Board of Trade.

SIR WILFRID'S WOBBLES.

Speaking in parliament in 1890, Sir Wilfrid Laurier declared:

"If we know the hearts and minds of our people at present, I think I am not making too wide a statement when I say that the general feeling in Canada is not in favor of reciprocity."

Four years later, again speaking in the commons, the prime minister asserted:

"I have found in a short experience, during which it has been my privilege and my fortune to be placed at the head of affairs, by the will of the Canadian people, that the best and most effective way to maintain friendship with our American neighbors is to be absolutely independent of them."

Eleven years later Sir Wilfrid is ready to sacrifice the very policies which he has repeatedly declared with so much emphasis holds out the only genuinely patriotic hope for Canadians.

British Columbia is our natural market.

Bust the trusts by voting for McGillivray.

Wheat is lower in price, as a rule, in Chicago than it is in Winnipeg. Why vote for reciprocity?

The whole north country is in insurrection against Dr. Clark, and he is fighting a losing battle for sure.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier threatens to retire if he is defeated. How very, very sad. How we will miss him!

There is every indication of a mighty landslide in Quebec and Ontario, and the Liberals will be beaten by forty majority in the next house of commons.

Dr. Clark voted against reducing the duty on agricultural implements, yet he claims to be a free trader. He is what might properly be called an American reciprocal, Canadian protectionist, English free trader.

We await with considerable interest that resolution thanking Dr. Clark for the letter box at the station. It cannot be that our Liberal friends will overlook this splendid opportunity of showing what the doc or has done for Red Deer.

British Columbia took over two million pounds of our creamery butter last year, paying us 28 cents a pound for it. This was a higher price than New York or Chicago paid for their butter during the same time. Our R.C. butter market will be ruined by reciprocity.

A prominent lumberman of the Pass has announced his intention of supporting reciprocity. Why? Because he says that he is not going to pay the farmers of Alberta six or seven dollars more for hay than he can get it for from the Oregon and Washington farmer. The farmer of Southern Alberta who thinks that reciprocity will help him, should paste that lumberman's statement in his hat.

ONE STORY FOR THE EAST, ANOTHER FOR THE WEST

Western farmers who have been told that the reciprocity agreement is the thin end of the wedge, and that substantial reductions in duties on manufactured articles will follow the abolition of the duties on farm products are perfectly referred to the Toronto Globe of Tuesday, August 22. Prominently displayed on the front page of that issue is the report of a speech delivered at Berlin by W. L. Mackenzie King, minister of labor. The leading headlines are as follows: "FURTHER CHANGES NOT CONTEMPLATED"—"HON. MR. KING'S ANSWER TO TORY INSINUATIONS." Following these headlines is a displayed quotation from Mr. King's speech. Here is the style in which it appears:

"It is not the intention of the government to make any further tariff changes. I cannot make that too clear."—Hon. Mr. King at Berlin

The Globe then goes on to say that Hon. Mr. King "gave in terms that could have no two meanings the government's answer to the insidious arguments the Conservative leaders and journals have been using—namely, that reciprocity was the thin edge of the wedge, and that the government had in mind further general tariff reductions." The Globe again quotes Mr. King as follows: "IT IS NOT," he stated, "THE INTENTION OF THE GOVERNMENT TO MAKE ANY FURTHER TARIFF CHANGES. I CANNOT MAKE THAT TOO CLEAR. If it had been the intention of the government to reduce the duties on manufactured articles it would have been done when the Americans came to us asking for that. TO SAY THAT THE GOVERNMENT INTENDS SUCH A THING, AND THAT IT IS ONLY THE THIN EDGE OF THE WEDGE, IS ABSOLUTE NONSENSE."

These assurances which Mr. King has given to the eastern manufacturers are to the same effect as assurances previously given by Premier Laurier and Hon. W. S. Fielding on the floor of the house. They are, however, more positively and explicitly stated. What do the farmers of Western Canada think of these declarations? And what do they think of the organs and individuals that are telling them that the work of tariff revision had just commenced, and that the manufacturers are soon to suffer as the agricultural interests have suffered, the loss of the protection they now enjoy? What do they think of the repeated affirmations that in consummating the reciprocity agreement the Laurier government has offended Special Privilege, and is in danger of defeat at the hands of eastern plutocrats?

Mr. Mackenzie King, minister of labor, has furnished the latest answer to these base misrepresentations of the line upon which the present election contest is being fought. His words, to which the Toronto Globe gives so much prominence, show, if they show anything, that the Laurier government is making its whole fight in Eastern Canada on the immunity it has granted the manufacturing interests in the past and the immunity it proposes to grant them in future. It shows that the Laurier government is linking arms with Special Privilege in the present fight just as it has linked arms with it in every election since 1896.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier has lined up behind him the farm implement trust, the cement trust, and scores of other over-protected interests. And from this alliance the farmers of Western Canada are led to believe that they will ultimately receive relief from tariff taxation. They will receive no relief so long as Sir Wilfrid Laurier is permitted to manipulate the tariff in the interests of his powerful friends. The farmers of Western Canada cannot be blind to the fact that the entangling alliances which hold the present government in subjection to the big interests must be broken before the question of real tariff revision can be brought within the scope of practical possibility.

THREE GREAT WAVES

In 1878 a great wave of national feeling arose in this country and sustained Sir John Macdonald in the making of what is now known as the National Policy, which was opposed by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his then friends.

In 1891 a similar national wave arose and rejected the proposal of commercial union advocated by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his then political friends.

In 1911 a similar wave is sweeping over the country to reject the anti-national proposal of reciprocity put forward by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his friends.

You cannot beat a nation in asserting its nationhood and resisting all or any efforts to destroy it. And this last wave of national feeling is the greatest yet. Be a Canadian and assert your birthright.

RECIPROCITY AND THE TRUSTS

"It (Reciprocity) will give to American trusts a power, an influence and a control in this country equal to that which has been exercised so remorselessly and unseparably in the United States."

"It will for the most part reduce the prices which our producers will receive for their output, while the control of the trusts will prevent any reduction to the consumer."

"It will discourage the higher and more progressive methods of agriculture and encourage the export of our raw material and unfinished products for manufacture abroad instead of at home."—R. L. Borden.

MR. BOWER CORRECTED

To the Editor of The News, Red Deer.

Dear Sir,—Mr. Bower implies in his letter this week that the cattle men of this country have been selling their breeding stock and bulls and going out of the business on account of poor markets. As a cattle man of some twenty years' standing in this country I do not think that this is stating the case correctly. Of course better markets are always desirable, but I think that it is fairly well known and acknowledged, at any rate among stock men, that their reason for going out of the business is the curtailment of the range and the difficulties in getting sufficient hay.

There are as many cattle raised now and the market for beef has been gradually getting better, and of late years considerably better.—Your truly, ARTHUR PARLOE.
Pine Lake, Sept. 2nd, 1911.

President Taft said in an article in Leslie's Weekly recently that "the United States exports to Canada about fifteen times as much of meat and dairy products as Canada exports to the United States." Where will the Canadian farmer come in if the tariff wall is removed entirely? Think it over seriously.

The Conservative party brought in a motion at the last session of the House of Commons asking that the duty on agricultural implements be reduced from twenty per cent. to ten per cent., and Dr. Michel Clark and the entire Liberal party voted against the motion. This fact is not generally known but it is a fact nevertheless, and should be noted by farmer voters.

Mr. Borden has epigrammatically phrased the situation: "A live wire is sometimes a very harmless looking object, but the unfortunate individual who undertakes to handle it vainly strives to withdraw or relax his grasp." If we attempt the experiment of linking arms with our gigantic neighbor he will have something to say about the unliking. Already we hear the astonishing suggestion that as Congress has ratified this agreement Canada dare not refuse it. Canada would be as capable of withdrawing without consent from this agreement as the fly from the spider's web.

Reciprocity Will Seriously Affect the Butter Trade.

To the Editor of The News.
Our farmers and old creamery patrons over here at Lacombe who have been giving this question consideration, believe that it will most seriously affect our now most prosperous dairying industry.

They remember how in our earlier history, as no doubt many of the old creamery supporters in the Red Deer district remember, that our strongest competitors in the B.C. market were from the states to the south. At times, notwithstanding the duty of 4c a lb., the market was overstocked. This in a great measure is the case now, showing that the Canadian market is the best, and what may we expect with the duty off, and the free market. That B.C. is a good market is proven by the fact of so much butter coming in from eastern Canada. According to the dairy commissioners' returns for 1909 there was manufactured at the creameries in Alberta 2,550,000 lbs., and with the exception of 400,000 lbs. to the Yukon, the rest was sold in British Columbia, and the average price realized at the creameries higher than the wholesale prices, either in or out of the United States. With the Lacombe creamery, and we suppose it is much the same with the other creameries, the average price was 28 cents per lb. for the six months to 1st of Aug. Besides the make at the creameries there is still enough of the home made to supply the home market, which is made better by the large amount sent out of the Province. One of our merchants here, who has a large farmers' trade with a certain class of newcomers, says he knows for a fact that nine out of ten of these families are paying their expenses with their butter, poultry and eggs. To our mind it seems most suicidal and absurd, with our splendid market and reciprocal trade with B.C., to invite competition from the United States and practically the whole world. Today the Americans are said to have a billion dollars' worth of farm products in cold storage, and whenever the markets are good in will be dumped a lot of this product and down will go the price, which we have already experienced to our sorrow. For these reasons alone, and there are dozens of others why reciprocity should be turned down flat, and the Borden candidate becoming so popular.

Admission, including refreshments, 25 cents.

Chief of Police George Bell arrived home on Tuesday evening from Banff and Kamloops, where he has been spending four or five weeks to recuperate. Ever since leaving Red Deer George has been beset on all sides by people wanting to congratulate him on his lucky escape and who were anxious to hear of his experience with the band. While in Kamloops Mr. and Mrs. Bell and the baby were the guests of Chief of Police Rothnie, who has made a wonderful improvement in the force, there is taking charge, and he is now one of the most popular men of the town. George took over the reins of office on Monday and everyone is glad to see him back again.

A great mystery which has surrounded the theft of a lot of merchandise from the C.P.R. premises while in transit was cleared up last week when Chief Anderson succeeded in tracing the culprit and recovering most of the stolen goods. The thief was in the employ of the C.P.R. and was let off with a fine of twenty-five dollars and the pleasure of leaving town at once.

The Citizens' Band is daily growing in popularity was again demonstrated on Friday night by the big crowd which turned out to listen to their concert. Although not as strong in numbers as they usually are, the boys put up a good program of music, each number of which won the applause of the crowds. During the program, His Worship Mayor Welliver made an address to the band, thanking them for their efforts to give the public good music, and complimenting them on the progress they had made this summer. In explaining his attitude on appreciation the Mayor quoted the story of the poor man in New York who was hauling dirt to one of the wharfs with a single horse and a dump cart, and who had the misfortune to see his horse slip into the water and drown before anything could be done to save him. A large crowd saw the accident and hastened to express their sorrow at the man's misfortune, when one of the crowd asked them how much they were sorry for; he said he was sorry for twenty-five dollars, and donated that amount for the purpose of buying him another outfit. No one else took the hint and the twenty-five dollars was all the man got, so after all the crowd could not have been very sorry. In conclusion Mayor Welliver asked the secretary of the band to call at his office in the morning and he would be pleased to give him a check for ten dollars for the band funds. How much do you appreciate that? At the commencement of the season the band made a resolution that no subscriptions were to be asked for, so that all the money they have had this year is what they have worked for and the unsolicited subscriptions which have been handed in from time to time at their concerts. For their series of eight concerts, which they are now playing for the town, the band receives one hundred dollars. The new uniforms, which they purchased at the beginning of the season, and which have improved the appearance of the band wonderfully, cost them over one hundred and twenty dollars, the rent of the band hall costs them seventy-five dollars for the year (and has been paid in advance), and a lot of repairs have been done to the instruments in addition to the extensive repertoire of new music which has been purchased, so that it will be seen that the boys have made a plucky fight of it, though it has been uphill work and at times very discouraging. For the benefit of those who feel the spirit moving within, we will say that the secretary's address is B. McLeod, Red Deer, or your envelope may be addressed to the popular bandmaster, J. Edward Welton.

Mrs. W. Cassels returned from Sylvan Lake Thursday. Mrs. Cassels will remain for some time.

Dr. and Mrs. Plummer left for Calgary on Tuesday's train. Dr. Plummer will engage in his profession there.

Mrs. Jarvis will open up her fall millinery establishment on Sept. 11th and 12th, one door east of Mr. Hall's store.

Percy Bosenbury's dog was run down by the car belonging to the Progress Photo Company on Friday night, near the post office, and instantly killed.

The Alberta Women's Association will meet for the first time this fall, at the home of the President, Mrs. F. W. Galbraith, on Saturday, the 9th, at 4 o'clock. A full attendance is requested.

"The Pixie" was produced in Wetaskiwin last week for two nights and was a marked success. As a result the sum of one hundred and seventy-five dollars was handed over to the treasurer of the Ladies' Hospital Aid Society.

J. A. Grant has just mounted and set up for Dr. George's museum a calf with two heads that was born on the ranch of John Walton of Edwille. This is one of the best preserved freaks that we have ever seen and is well worth a visit to the museum.

Monday was Labor Day and passed off very quietly for a holiday. The majority of the townspeople were out shooting and enjoyed themselves. The only accident brought to our notice was the one by which Herb Lobbsinger strained his gun through trying to kill a duck at too long a distance.

Poplar Ridge

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Masher and daughter have gone on their home-ward bentley way. Mr. and Mrs. Warren Spence are guests of Mrs. Spence's brother Fred Brownrigg for a few days, on their return from a month's visit to the east, before returning to their home at Cranbrook, B.C.

Rev. Bannock took charge of the service Sunday afternoon. Four children were baptised. Miss Wilson spent Labor Day at Sylvan Lake as guest of Miss Simmonds.

Lousana

Mr. Donaldson is spending the week in town. During his absence Alex. and A. Boyden are running the ranch in a style second to none.

Miss P. Willman, of Boston, and Miss W. Willman, of Calgary, are spending a two weeks' visit with their cousin, Mrs. S. J. Murray, on their return trip from Vancouver and the coast.

G. H. Bayles, a former resident of this district, has returned from Brisbane, Australia. Mr. Bayles says there is no place like "Sunshine Alberta," and we are all pleased to extend him a hearty welcome home. Alex. Well has left far parts unknown. Don't do anything you'll be sorry for, Alex.

Church of England services will be held in Long Lake school every third Sunday in the month at 11 o'clock by Rev. Alexander Currie, B.A.

Miss A. Campbell, of Calgary, is spending a week with her mother, Mrs. John Campbell.

Sutherland & Bennett, contractors, are busily engaged in clearing the streets of brush. They expect to have the town looking like a real live town in a few weeks.

In spite of the roads, which sure need some attention, Lousana is not behind in the line of freighting. William Sutherland has taken over the livery business of Alex. Wells. With a livery and feed stable as a sideline, Will should coin money.

James Brindleton, from the Bad Lands, was seen in town last week. Jim, since last seen, has developed a lean and hungry look.
